Law Library Books for sale

In recent months, the Law Library Board of Directors made the decision to upgrade our collection to computer accessible CD-ROM format, and, therefore, retire the hard cover editions. To some people this may sound sacrilege, but apparently not to enough people, because I can't unload them for love nor money!! So, we're now going to a bargain basement special on the remaining volumes, as represented by the attached list. Here it is, friends and neighbors, get 'em while they're hot, all volumes just $.50, half a buck, four bits, two lousy quarters each!! All you need is the linear shelf space, some strong backs and weak minds for a few hours on Saturday (or a Junior League wife with lots of book shelves to decorate), and you too can have an office background worthy of a Ken Hodges photo-op. The catch - you must buy a complete set, no odd lots or pieces allowed, and you must transport from the premises within ten days of purchase. This offer is good through June 30, 2001, and any offers should be communicated directly to the Law Librarian, Gladys Callaway, at 431-2133.
